

Robert L. Stein, D.M.D.

Dear Oz General Contracting,

It's been more than 2 years since the remodeling of my entire home was completed. Our satisfaction level with the quality of work is still excellent.

Of the thousands of things constructed and installed, one can expect a very few of them to break or not work correctly. However, can one expect or depend on their contractor to come back and repair these problems in a timely matter? With Oz the answer is YES!

We are fortunate that we chose Oz because whenever we needed them to come back they have... not begrudgingly but with a smile and attitude that our house is their house and it has to be right.

Just last week Uzi stopped by to see how everything was going. A few weeks ago I stopped in to say hello and Mike was there discussing our house in great detail. And then there's Josh, and Manny who when they come by to repair something always come with a positive attitude and go out of their way to make the customer satisfied.

How many contractors can you say all that about? Well we know one... OZ!

Sincerely,

Elissa Stein & Robert L. Stein
